Use this worksheet to identify the main Enneagram patterns that contribute to the building of the Moral Component. You may not have every influence or each pattern, but that is why you have worksheets. Come back and rework as needed to fill in as much as you can over time.

1. Enneagram Core Fears & Poisons:

Question: “Of the nine core fears, which one sounds most like your character?”

Question: “Of the nine poisons, which one is most consistent with your character’s behavior?”

2. Enneagram Core Desires & Distortions:

Question: “Of the nine core desires, which one sounds most like your character?”

Question: “Of the nine distortions, which one is most consistent with your character’s behavior?”

3. Enneagram De-Evolution: (The arrows below represent the de-evolution paths of the nine styles.)

Question: “Of the nine paths of de-evolution, which one is consistent with that of your protagonist? Review Chapter 8 for descriptions of each path’s characteristics.”

4. Enneagram Style Low Points:

Question: "Of the Enneagram Low Points, which one sounds like your character at the Doom Moment of the story? If you don't know the Doom Moment yet, now is a good time to think about it."
